"I Wish The Old Man Had Shot Me"

Builder Charged

"I wish the old man had shot me right between the eyes. It might have been better that way."

His lips contorted in emotion, Dewey Hicks, well-known area building contractor, made this pronouncement Wednesday as he discussed a double killing which left his life a shambles early New Year morning.

Hicks is charged on two counts of murder with malice.

Fatally wounded at their South Amarillo home about 3 o'clock Thuesday morning were Joseph Richard Damron, 73 years old, and his son Joseph William Damron, 44.

The son died at the scene and the father was dead on arrival at Northwest Texas Hospital in Amarillo.

Hicks gave himself up to a Potter County officer a short time later and then called for Randall County Sheriff L.S. "Slim" Johnston before making a statement.

Hicks said the shooting was the culmination of some three years of harassing midnight and wee hour phone calls from Joseph Damron.

In an interview with The News Wednesday Hicks said the pressure became unbearable the night of New Year Eve. He said the younger Damron made "six or seven threatening phone calls" that night.

"He (Damron) told me he had four or five thugs and they were going to come down there to my house and get me," Hicks declared.

Hicks said his wife once went with the younger Damron before her marriage to Hicks more than 20 years ago.

"She was just 18 years old then she only went with him two or three times," Hicks related. "She couldn't stand him."

Hicks said he had never met Damron when the telephone harrassment began about 3 1/2 years ago. "I had a Mexican call me and tell me he had been hired by Damron to get me," Hicks declared.

He said the Mexican offered to "get Damron" if Hicks would up the ante.

Hicks told officers he repeatedly pleaded with the younger Damron to stop calling his home. He said he even went and talked to him at the home of a mutual acquaintence shortly after the telephoning allegedly began.

"It just worried me until I couldn't think about anything else," Hicks declared. "I lost I don't know how many jobs during the past year because I was so worried."

Hicks said he called on the Potter County Sheriff's Department about a year ago seeking help but the phone calls continued, according to his story.

Hicks said the series of phone calls which led to the shooting began Monday afternoon.

"He said he was going to take my wife away from me," Hicks declared. "I told him he didn't have to take her, that she could go if she wanted to. But she just couldn't stand him."

Hicks said the phone calls Monday night and early Tuesday were abusive. "My daughter heard it," Hicks declared. "He was talking so loud on the phone that my daughter could hear it."

Hicks has a 19-year-old daughter and a 21 year-old son.

Hicks told officers he received the final telephone calls in the early morning hours Tuesday. "He said he was coming after me," Hicks reported.

"I told him that wouldn't be necessary, that I would come over there."

Hicks said he took a 12-gauge, double barrelled shotgun and .44 magnum rifle and drove seven blocks to the Damron home.

The elder Damron's wife answered the door. "I think Joe came down the stairs," Hicks related. "The old man came up and he was carrying a gun."

"Kill the s.o.b., Daddy!", Hicks quoted the younger Damron as having yelled.

"I believe I will," Hicks quoted the father.

Hicks said he fired from the hip at Joe and then whirled on the older man hoping to knock him down with a bullet. Both men suffered fatal wounds.

Amarillo police say Damron called the police station at 3:01 a.m. saying Hicks was outside his home and trying to break in and that "there's going to be a killing. If he comes in my house I'm going to kill him."

Hicks told police he fired

Truett Hull, freshman Randall County criminal district attorney, had his work cut out for him even as he was sworn in Wednesday. Hull will get his first big test in office as he prosecutes the Hicks murder case. Hull will face highly regarded George McCarthy, Amarillo defense lawyer retained by Hicks.

Plans Shaping Up Annual Livestock Show

The sixteenth annual Randall County Junior Livestock Show and Sale will be held in Canyon on Jan. 11-12, 1963.

Since the first show held 16 years ago the Randall County Show has become one of the outstanding Agricultural events in this county.

For many years facilities for holding the show and sale were far from adequate. The show was held in impelemnt houses around Canyon and more often in the City Barn. In 1961 a new building was constructed in Canyon as a permanent home for the Livestock Show.

The guiding organization behind the show and sale all through the years has been the Randall County Junior Livestock Association.

This organization usually numbers about 300 strong. Business interests of Canyon, Amarillo, Happy, Wayside, Umbarger, and other outlying areas take an annual membership to support the Association Activities.

Many farmers and ranchers become members. The $5.00 anrual dues is used to defray expenses for the many activities sponsored by this association such as the Annual Livestock Show.

The president of the Randall County Junior Livestock Association this year is Emil Olson. He will be assisted by a full slate of officers and directors. More than fifty adult leaders from Randall County will have a hand on the working committees.

JoZach Byrd will be the general Superintendent of the 1963 show.

For many years the show and sale was limited to fat steers, lambs and swine. A few years ago a horse department was added. Last year a class for dairy heifers and beef heifers was added. This brings a full slate of livestock.

To be eligible to take part in the Randall County show a boy or girl must be a member of a 4-H Club or the FFA. Project supervision is under the direction of the vocational Agriculture teachers and the Randall County Agent.

Even after the new building was put into use last year, the show facilities are overflowing. This year the board of directors will require that all fat animals for show and sale must pass through a sifting committee. They will be passed on for conformation, fatness, and training before the actual show begins. Even after some of the animals are removed the facilities at the barn will still be overflowing.

More than two hundred entries of prize Randall County livestock will pass before the judges before the show is concluded.

On Friday, Jan. 11, the horses, beef heifers and dairy heifers will be judged. Because of a shortage of barn space these animals will be taken home by the youngsters that same afternoon.

Saturday will see the judging of the fat lambs, steers, and pigs. The sale will start at 6:30 P. M. on Saturday.

All Randall County people are urged to see this big event. There is no admission fee. The 4-H and FFA youngsters from Randall County would like to show the public the results of their efforts over the past several months.

Two WT Campus Buildings Receive Shelter Supplies

Canyon this week received the first two of ten shipments of civil defense supplies to be installed in the recently designated fallout shelters in the Canyon-Umbarger area.

Bill Sternenberg, assistant director of the Randall County Civil Defense program said these first two shipments contain four basic items for survival in the event of nuclear attack--food, water containers (which will soon be filled) and medical and sanitation supplies.

He said the food consists of condensed "biscuits" which contain enough food value to support life. The water containers are 17 1/2 gallon units. He said these shipments contained about 100 of them. The medical supplies are for general and emergency use and the sanitation supplies contain chemical toilets and other associated equipment.

Sternenberg said the equipment and supplies will probably be installed in two of the three largest public fallout shelters, West Texas State College Library and Administration buildings. The college museum is the largest of the shelters.

Sternenberg said that radiation detection equipment, also to be installed in the fallout shelters, has already arrived from another source and is ready for use.

Total capacity of all area public fallout shelters has been set at 3073 persons. The build-

WT PRESIDENT GETS CITATION

Dr. James P. Cornette, president of West Texas State College, was named 1962 man of the year by The Amarillo Globe-Times.

Announcement of the annual newspaper award was made Tuesday in a by-line story by Thomas Thompson, editor of The Globe-Times.

As reasons for selecting Dr. Cornette, the Amarillo newspaper listed the following accomplishments since he became president of West Texas State in 1948.

"Enrollment at West Texas State has grown from 1,300 to 3,378.

"The faculty has increased from less than 100 teachers to 180.

"All but five of 23 major buildings on the campus have either been constructed or undergone major renovation.

"The athletic program has become a major attraction of this area, evidenced by construction of a gymnasium and a 20,000 seat capacity football stadium.

"The college has become a fine arts center of the Texas Panhandle.

"Reserve Officers' Training has been added to the crriculum.

"The night school has been moved from Amarillo to the main campus so that more instructional facilities are available. The shift became possible with the completion of the expressway, which Dr. Cornette boosted during bond elections in 1954 and 1955."

Man of the Year awards have been made annually by the Amarillo newspaper since 1950. The presentation usually is made at the spring convention of the West Texas Press Association in Amarillo.

Bill Butler made history Wednesday morning. He was sworn in as Randall County commissioner, having defeated incumbent C. Y. Johnson for that office in November. He became the first Republican in Randall County history to hold county office.

Go Signal Given Ponderosa Plat

Canyon city commission approved Thursday at a called meeting, a proposed plat of the Ponderosa Addition to be annexed to the city.

Owned by Jim Christopher, the addition is a housing development south of the city limits.

City manager Bill York outlined to the commissioners the necessary legal proceedure in annexation of new land to the city.

He said the city must first approve a proposed plat or plan for the addition, secondly, they must approve a formal petition by the property owners for the annexation and then they must publish three times the city's intent to annex.

York said the commission could take final action on annexation of the addition 30 days after they received the formal annexation petition.

York said city engineer Bill McMorries had reviewed the plat of the proposed addition and had approved it as in keeping with Canyon planning and annexation standards. York said the city planning commission had also reviewed the plat and approved it.

In other action the commission instructed Christopher to submit a formal annexation petition at the next meeting of the commission.

The commission also reaffirmed its standing policy of bearing the cost of city street paving projects. There has been some precedent for having the property owners pay for the engineering costs as a part of the street paving program, York said.

In final action the commission decided to consider at a later date the revision of the city's gasoline purchasing practices. Purpose of the suggested revisions was to insure that city gasoline be purchased locally.

SunBowl Is Squeaker

BY MIKE MOON

Explosive West Texas State came from behind twice to win the 28th Annual Sun Bowl Classic at El Paso last Monday over the Ohio University Bobcats in a game which saw the winning points come anticlimactically.

Buff Quarterback Corky Dawson took the snap from center Charlie Daves and calmly passed to end Jim Ostrander who was standing in the midle of the end zone for the winning two points of the game.

To set up the win, second-team quarterback Hoot Gibson substituted for Dawson and carried the team into Ohio territory. Then, on the 32-yard line, Gibson-already noted for his crazy style of running-faded back to pass downfield but found only white jerseys in front of him.

Gibson first dodged one player and then two. In the process of running backwards, sidewards, and every other inconceivable direction, Gibson had faded back to midfield and side-stepped six Ohio players. With three others breathing down his neck, Gibson saw Richardson standing on the far sidelines screaming at him. The Odessa junior promptly unleashed a pass all the way across the field to Richardson on the 40 yard line where the Canyon junior carried the ball all the way in after losing the rest of Ohio's befuddled Bobcats on the sidelines.

West Texas had been behind 3-0, 11-7, and 14-7 before Dawson and Gibson engineered the last quarter rally. The Buffs finished the season with 9 wins and 2 losses and a perfect record in post season competition. WT has beaten Cincinnatti in the Sun Bowl in 1951, 14-13 and in 1957 the Buffs battered Mississippi Southern in the Tangerine Bowl 20-13 at Orlando, Florida.

The home team from the Texas Panhandle tried several times to give the bowl championship to Ohio and Ohio tried to take advantage of the opportunities but never-say-die Buffalos always roared back with a fantastic play pulled out of the bottomless hat of Coach Joe Kerbel.

Neither team, could manage a score in the first period although the Buffs attempted a field goal and Ohio tried three. Finally, early in the second quarter, the Bobcat's talented kicker Jim McKee toed the ball over the goalposts from 52 yards away to break the scoring ice.

This put a spark of life in to the Buffs as Dawson moved the cold-running team into the air. The senior signal-caller first tossed a first down aerial to end Quinton Eppinette and then another to Ostrander. Richardson became the next big target for Dawson and the Canyon junior took the ball down the sidelines to the Ohio 14 yard line.

With the partisan crowd on its feet screaming for a touchdown, Dawson passed to halfback Jerry Logan for 14 yards and the first touchdown of the game. Logan took the pass in the middle of the field and slanted into the end zone and Gibson split the uprights with a perfect kick to give WT a 7-3 halftime bulge.

Seconds before the clock ran out, Babbitt had passed his team to the Buffs' 7 yard marker and tried two incomplete passes before keeping on the last play of the half for a loss.

After a punt exchange early in the second half, Quarterback Dawson started to pass but found his receivers covered and decided to run. And run he did as Dawson outran, out-maneuvered, and out-faked every player on the field before finally being hauled down 66-yards and later on Ohio's 18 yard line. However, when he was hit, the ball squirted loose and was recovered by an alert Bobcat.

Another punt exchange saw the West Texans move the ball from the Ohio 48 to the 16 yard line in another strong scoring attempt until another disaster struck. Ohio's right guard Don Hoovler garnered the Feder Award for the game's Outstanding Lineman when he "intercepted" Corky Dawson's fumble on the nine yard line and lumbered back 91 yards for the go-ahead touchdown.

The ball had been batted into through a glass storm door at the home. However, officers were unable to find any holes in the door.

After the shooting, Hicks went home. He later gave himself up to a Potter County deputy. A shotgun, with barrel and stock sawed off to make it a pistol-type weapon, was found at the scene.

It reportedly belongs to Hicks, a gun collector.

"I'm ruined and there's no doubt about that," Hicks declared Wednesday. "If I get this straightened out, I'm going to sell everything and get out."

Hicks is charged in Randall County and is in Randall County jail in Canyon awaiting examining trial.

For freshman Criminal District Attorney T. G. Hull, it will be the first test of his mettle in his new office. Hull, who was sworn in only Wednesday morning, will make his first official appearance at Hicks' examining trial at 10 o'clock Friday.

Hull will be pitted against an old master of the court room, George McCarthy of Amarillo. Hicks is reported to have asked for the examining trial upon advice from his attorney.

Hicks, a diabetic, is subject to insulin shock. Sheriff Johnston had the prisoner's jail cell stocked with candy to counteract any such shock if were to occur.

Police say both Hicks and the younger Damron have had several brushes with the law. Hicks has been charged with disorderly conduct, drunkeness and gaming.

At the time of the shooting the younger Damron was free on bond after being indicted last March by a Randall County grand jury on charges of felony theft.

He was an Air Force navigator during World War II and was held prisoner of war by the Germans after being shot down over Europe.

Schooler-Gordon Funeral Home in Amarillo was in charge of funeral arrangements.

in Canyon and Umbarger that have been designated as public fallout shelters will be stocked with survival supplies and will be marked with signs.

Sternenberg has said earlier that the public shelters will be administered on a "first come-first served" basis in the event of a nuclear attack. He added that persons entering the shelter should take warm clothing, flashlights and batteries, and a battery powered radio if possible.

the air upon impact and evidently the Buffs thought that the play had been blown dead as they did not give chase to the 220 pound guard. Second team quarterback Roger Merb ran behind Hoovler all the way, pushing him as he went. After the tremedous effort by the hefty lineman, the crowd gave him a standing ovation and the trainer gave him oxygen treatments.

Pistol Pete Pedro, apparently recovered from his near-season-long injury, carried for slightly over 30 yards to the Ohio 26 for a first down and the Bufflaoes were on their third strong scoring threat of the second half. However, the attack was once again made fruitless as Fullback Russell Munday fumbled the ball on the Ohio 8 yard line.

Still not recovered from the shock, the Buffs saw Merb break loose for a 57 yard dash to the WT 25 before Richardson finally ran him down. The determined Bobcats fought their way to the 3 yard line before losing to the eight and setting a field goal effort by McKee from 24 yards out.

Tired of fooling around, West Texas State put the game on ice with the next drive after Gibson had gains of 8, 16, and 8 again to set up the fantastic touchdown which led to victory.

Pedro finished the game as top rusher with 105 yards and the WT team rolled up a total of 448 yards gained to Ohio's 324. The amazing thing was that WT had managed a mere 124 yards total in the first half. The Buffs second half performance equalled the Bobcats' whole-game show. Dawson passed for 73 yards and ran for 76 in what was considered his career's best game. Jerry Logan was awarded the Hendricks' Trophy for the Outstanding Player of the game. In addition to Logan's TD, passing and running yardage, he averaged 41 a kick for 5 punts not including one that traveled 70 yards in the air.

Firemen Have Busy Holidays

Canyon volunteer fire department answered several rural and town fire calls during the Christmas-New Year holidays.

A farm barn and shop was destroyed Saturday night of last week 13 miles northeast of Canyon on the old Bailey McCormic Farm. Fire department officials listed the cause of the fire as unknown.

A hog barn belonging to Luther Wesley of Canyon burned December 26 on the Wesley Farm, one half mile southwest of Canyon. City fire captain Joe Rice said the barn was a total loss. Eight pigs were killed in the fire. Cause of the blaze was given as an overheated warming lamp. No estimate of loss was available.

A burning trash barrel set the grass afire Saturday morning of last week at the home of Rhome Mobley, 1106 6th Avenue, Canyon. The burning grass set the Mobley garage and shop afire. Rice said the shop was a total loss and the garage received minor damage.

Rice said the presence of gasoline and paint in the shop caused it to burn rapidly, contributing to its destruction. No loss estimate was given.

A similar fire burned the yard and an air conditioner at the home of Vick Guyer, 804 25th Street. A burning trash barrel ignited the grass which spread to the nearby house. Rice said damage was minor.

Rice cautioned Canyonites to use care when burning trash, especially now that the cold weather has killed all the vegetation and things are so dry.

Another burning trash can Wednesday noon, set the back yard afire at 2304 5th Avenue, Canyon, the residence of Mel Harp.

City fire captain Joe Rice said there was minor damage to the yard and an ice box stored there.

Skippy Found After Three Long Years??

Nancy Burris of 2522 Tenth is certain she has found her dog, Skippy, more than three years after the dog disappeared from the Burris home in Amarillo.

Skippy disappeared from the Burris home three years ago in September.

A dog, strongly believed to be Skippy, showed up at the Thurman Freeman home in Canyon about the same time. The Freemans don't know where Skippy came from to their house. He just showed up.

The Burton Burris family first came by Skippy when they found him by the side of a road at Chickasha, Okla., about five years ago. He had been hit by a car and a leg was mangled.

The family took the stricken dog to a vet and the leg healed. It was by the scar they made what they believe to be positive identification.

Nancy, now 16 years old, said Skippy still does the tricks she taught him while he was staying at her house.

The Burris family moved to Canyon about 1 1/2 years ago.

Mrs. Burris said she caught a glimpse of Skippy about a year ago. They made what they think is positive identification a week ago.

"The Freemans are so attached to him now that I guess we'll just share him," Mrs. Burris declared this week. Skippy is visiting in the Burris home while the Freemans are away for the holidays.

Pavement Plans Set

Preparations are being made for the city's spring pavement program, according to Bill York, city manager.

York said all street improvements in 1963 will be done under the voluntary petition method whereby property owners petition the city to have the streets in front of their property paved or otherwise improved.

York said property owners desiring paving improvements must deposit into an escrow fund the amount estimated by the city engineer to pay for the improvements abutting their property.

He said all funds necessary for street improvement must first be placed in escrow before the work can begin.

He said that after all funds for a street paving job have been placed in escrow competitive bids will be taken, a contract awarded to the low bidder and work begun.

York said the city pays the engineering costs, costs of street intersections and alley connections when funds are available. In addition the city assumes all maintenance responsibility after the paving work is completed.

York said that property owners interested in street improvements are urged to contact him in the city offices as soon as possible.

Fugitive Captured

Alert police work on the part of the Randall County sheriff's department enabled New Orleans city police to capture , December 20, an Amarillo man charged with the December 14 theft of a farm truck from Randall County.

Sheriff "Slim" Johnston said the New Orleans city police, acting on a tip from the Randall County sheriff's office, located and captured the fugitive when he visited the home of a friend in New Orleans.

The stolen farm truck was recovered, Johnston said. It was slightly damaged and was missing some of its accessory equipment," he added. It belongs to Dale Martin of the Terra Blanca Farm , east of Canyon.

Firemen Schedule Meeting

Canyon volunteer fire department will hold its annual meeting and election of officers Thursday evening at 7:30 pm in the city fire building.

Present officers for the volunteer fire department are--A. C. Haley Jr., fire chief; Roland Hicks, assistant fire chief; Velton Sorgee, president; Bill Brundige, vice-president and Jim Christopher, secretary-treasurer.

Mrs. Ardis Stamper, director of Hudspeth Hall, flew to San Francisco recently where she was met by her son. They then visited in San Francisco and Berkeley. Afterwards, they drove to Carmel, California, her son's home, for a few days' visit before returning to Canyon.

News, Features For The Women

Around The Town

Happy New Year, belatedly, but it's still a New Year new year. We drove to Alabama and back with no real difficulties but it seemed as though the trip from Claude to Canyon was the longest part of the journey.

We arrived to find many of our friends and neighbors in El Paso and will run a more complete list of them next week. To name a few now are the Bernard Warrens, the Aubrey Crossland, the Hatcher Browns, the Charles Nesters, the Hugh Greiners and the Riley Troths.

We didn't have a chance to see them, but understand the John Shipleys were in town visiting their many friends here. John is working on his PhD. at A. & M., but hopes to return to W. T. next fall.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Bingham of Stockton, Calif., visited his aunt Mrs. W. H. McAtee, and his cousins, Happy and John McAtee and Mrs. Gene Tippery during the holidays, as well as his aunt, Mrs. L. E. Thomas. Other visitors in the McAtee home were daughter Mrs. Lee Chandler and her husband from Borger, and granddaughters, and their husbands from Oklahoma and Amarillo. Duane McAtee from Farmington, N.M., visited his father, Don McAtee also.

The Lee Bailey's and daughter Beth, from Ramona, California visited her parents the C. S. Davenports during the holidays. Another Davenport daughter, Mrs. Harold Maddox of El Paso, and her husband and family were also guests of the Davenports.

Mr. and Mrs. John Schramm spent Christmas with Mrs. W. C. Rose in Canyon, and with Mrs. Schramm's mother and brother from Flagstaff, Ariz.

The Charles Wrights visited her parents, Ada, Okla., and the J. Keith Jones' made a flying trip to Oklahoma City to see his family.

Sorry we are so short this week, but if you will all come through and let us know what you did during Christmas, we can share it with all our friends. See you next week, and once again, Happy New Year.

Members of the 1955 graduating class of Canyon High met for a Class reunion on Thursday, December 27 at 7:30 p.m. in the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Parker, 1610 Eighth Avenue.

NORTH RANDALL NEWS

Right now, I imagine all the bus students wish that Jim Powell drove their school bus! But he drives only bus Number 1. Last Friday night, he gave a skating party for all his passengers and their parents. Understand that approximately 50 persons attended and everyone had a wonderful time! Nothing was said about the ups and downs of the evening!

The Intermediate scouts of this area held their Christmas party, Friday, December 21st at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Chet Smith, 5159 Arden Road. They played games and exchanged gifts but mostly were entertained with a trampoline that was set up in the Smith's backyard. Cookies and cokes were served for refreshments.

Mr. and Mrs. Rich Johnson and family spent Christmas day with the Evert Johnson family. They enjoyed a turkey dinner with all the trimmings but fun was called to a halt when the weather began to get bad. The Rich Johnsons had to leave before the roads became slick in order to get back home in Clarendon.

A barn burning on McCormick Road created quite a spectacle on Christmas Eve. The barn was located on the place occupied by Mr. and Mrs. O. C. Meyers. Three units were dispatched from the Canyon fire department but the barn had been burning long enough before an alarm was turned in that they could not save it. The tractor and truck, normally kept in the barn, happened to be outside when the fire started so they were not damaged.

A family get-together was held Sunday, December 23rd at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Guy Bufkin on Sundown Lane. Among the thirty-one guests attending were Guy's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Bufkin, of Dallas.

The Bill Harps spent Christmas Day in Lelia Lake where the Harp family got together at Kinch Leathers for dinner. There were twenty-two hungry people that had plenty to eat and lots of fun!

A birthday dinner was held for twins, Rhonda and Roger Johnson, December 22. Mr. and Mrs. Sam Thompson and children, Dale, Shirley, Frieda, and Troy were here from Plainview to help out with the celebration. Rhonda and Roger were 12 years old---got quite a few gifts and right before Christmas too!

AROUND THE TOWN (with kids)

Tom Wright's Sunday school class went on a hike Sunday afternoon. They went north of town into a small portion of the canyon.

First they hiked on a ledge and came upon a formation that looked like a camel kneeling. Then a little while after that, they tried to twist rabbits out of their holes. One big one had fresh footprints in the tunnel and was thought t be a badger hole. They found a rat nest which had quite a lot of junk in it.

As they were going to a small water, they found a dead cow which was spread in a creek bed for about 50 feet. It began and ended with a leg. They left about 2:30 p.m. and got back at about 5:30 p.m.

This columnist and Gene Morrison went on a hike Thursday after Christmas. They hiked along the creek south of town.

The creek was frozen over but not thick enough to walk on. They saw an old adobe house upsidedown in the center of the creek. They also saw a calf skull lying on the ice in the center of the creek. They not only saw it, but when they were going back home, they got it.

As they were going back it was time for the cows to be let out into the fields to graze. They were lucky to get home without getting charged at because the columnist was carrying a red sweater. One of the cows looked up and right at them. But they are okey.

Free, 905 Fifth Avenue in Canyon, and the bridegrooms parents are Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Hughes of 2405 Sixth Avenue, Canyon.

The Rev. Strauss Atkinson, minister of the church, read the nuptial vows before a Greecian pedestal draped with white satin and wrapped with holly garlands. The church was decorated with white mums and white gladioli trimmed with silver and the chancel was centered with a tree of wedding tapers. Altar candles were placed on the railing which had been wrapped in white satin.

Linda Hughes, sister of the bridegroom, served as bridesmaid, and Wilma Burkett was maid of honor. The attendants were gowned identically in dresses of emerald satin, with fitted bodice, scooped neckline and bell-shaped skirts. They wore circlet hats with short veils, green satin shoes, and carried silver rattan bells covered with white and silver flowers and accented with holly.

Given in marriage by her father, O. C. Free, the bride wore a formal length gown of white tafeta with a fitted bodice and yoke of re-embroidered Alencon lace which formed a Sabrina neckline. The full skirt was scattered with appliques of irredescent sequins and swept into a chapel length train in back. She carried a white prayerbook topped by white and silver flowers in cascade arrangement and centered with a white orchid.

Bill Berry of Dallas, a cousin of the bridegroom's was best man and Jackie Brietling served as groomsman. Ushers were Neal Hughes, Frank Davis, Benny Allison and Mike Poole.

Buffalo Band Spreads Goodwill At Sun Bowl

BY MIKE MOON

Moving with their usual near-perfect precision, the West Texas State Band rolled into El Paso Sunday night at 9 for the 28th Annual Sun Bowl Classic and then rolled out again immediately after the almost-unbelievable game which saw the Buffaloes edge past Ohio University 15-14.

However, during the WT band's short 20-hour stay in the Sun Country, the musicians went on a sightseeing tour of the Mexican border city of Ciudad Juarez, held a concert in the square of El Paso, provided the main body of the rooting section for the victorious Buffs, and -- in general -- spread goodwill across two states and Mexico.

The 130-piece band left the WT campus at 11 Sunday morning after an hour-and-a-half practice in Buffalo Bowl for the Sun Bowl halftime show. The four buses, identified by means of the first bus being designated as "West" and the ensuing three as "Texas", "State", and "Band", stopped for lunch in Clovis, New Mexico around noon. The large group provided the center of attraction for the New Mexicans as they literally took over a cafeteria with their boisterous laughter and promises of victory the next day.

After several hours, the resort town of Ruidoso was enlivened by the Buff Bandsmen. With a great deal of anticipation, the band was met at the outskirts of El Paso by a police escort which saw to it that the buses weren't delayed.

Checking in at the Cortez Hotel went as smooth as might be expected when 130-plus people try to check in at the same time. However, it took only a matter of 30 minutes for the group to reach their rooms and take off again.

The Mexican economy must have risen by leaps and bounds as the economically-minded WT students brought back souveniers, paintings, and leather work. Points of interest like the bull fighting arena and 300-plus year-old Catholic Cathedral of Juarez were seen for the first time by most of the students.

The next morning at 11, the band and twirlers appeared in full uniform in the plaza of downtown El Paso and gave a short concert for the local citizens and passers-by. Stirring marches delighted the fairly large turnout of downtown shoppers who applauded freely. A large group of spectators formed in the vicinity of the twirlers also as they went through their routines.

Even though goodwill was the key word concerning the band trip, one person in particular wasn't too happy with the prescense of the WT band. This was Ohio University's Head Coach Bill Hess. The band appeared on the football field at 1 p.m. to get in one more practice before the game started at 2. However, as the band stood in the end zone in block formation, Ohio's football squad made an unusually early entrance onto the field for their warmups.

This failed to bother the bandsmen as they proceeded to do their own practicing amid stray passes and punts and interspersed green-and-white clad Bobcats. Although none of the musicians were hit by the pesky pigskins, their routine was confused at times as a player would dance around to avoid the footballs.

Halfway through the performance, a belligerent Bill Hess demanded that the band leave the field immediately. Since no one had the field actually reserved, the band and the team continued their practicing. The furor of the Ohio mentor became such that Dr. Crager strolled out onto the field to survey the situation.

Dr. Crager was observed as having said only one thing to the enraged coach, "It sure is a beautiful day isn't it?" At this the band stopped its performance only one or two minutes before it would have been completed anyway and solved the situation.

During the game itself, the band provided the major portion of the hard-yelling, never-say-die West Texas State boosters. After completing a near-flawless halftime show for the spectators and a television audience, the band, twirlers, and cheerleaders formed two lines for the players to run through as the second half got underway.

After changing out of their uniforms following the game, a dinner stop at Alamogordo, New Mexico was the only thing that interrupted the students' sleep and New Year's celebration as the weary band pulled into Canyon Tuesday morning at 3:30--a job well done.

Former Canyon Resident Dies

Mrs. T. J. Cochran of Mesa, Ariz., formerly of Canyon, died recently in Mesa.

Mr. Cochran preceded her in death in 1957. The Cochrans lived in Canyon some 60 years before moving away in 1955.

They were pioneers of the Canyon area and were a part of the Panhandle's history.

Surviving are three daughters, Mrs. Ira Ann Young, Mesa, Mrs. Bina C. Wilkinson, Clovis, N. M., and Mrs. Elnora C. Smith, Portales, N. M.

Canyon Man's Father Dies

Sam Green, 76 years old, Murfreesboro, Ark. father of Vernon Green of Canyon, died Friday night at Murfreesboro.

Mr. Green was a retired farmer. He had been in ill health for some time.

Funeral services were held Sunday. Vernon Green attended the services.

Mr. Green is survived by his wife, two sons and a daughter.

Museum Receives Pistols

A pair of matched and engraved 1911 Colt .45 automatic pistols were recently donated to the Panhandle Plains Museum, according to Boone McClure, curator.

McClure said the engraved pistols which have gold inlays and hand carved bone grips, were donated to the museum through the auspices of the Rockwell Fund Inc. of Houston.

The matched pair of side arms were the original property of James Rockwell, deceased president of the Rockwell Fund Inc. The title to the guns states that they were donated to the museum because of the "love and affection" that Rockwell had for the Panhandle Plains Historical Society. The museum is the headquarters for the society.

Besides the deeply engraved faces and wide gold inlays, the pistols have the unusual distinction of abbreviated trigger guards. In addition, their factory serial numbers are only one number apart.

The Colt .45 automatic pistol has, since its introduction in 1911, been a favored side arm of the American armed forces. It has also had the dubious distinction of being widely copied all over the world by many different arms companies.

BOBCAT TRIBUTE--The traveling West Texas State Band, 130-pieces strong, paid this tribute to the Buffs opponents in the Sun Bowl, Ohio University. The band, directed by Dr. Ted Crager, entertained the fans during the halftime when WT prevailed 7-3. The Buffs went on to win 15-14 in the 28th Annual Classic. (Photo by John Pakan)

Prairie Wildlife

Two more weeks!!! That's about all there is left in the better part of this season on ducks, geese and quail. December 30, January 13 and January 16, respectively are the closing dates for all three game bird seasons.

Most of the folks we have talked to in these parts say they really got in some good hunting during the Christmas holidays, making up for lost time during the busy pre-Christmas rush.

QUAIL

The general feeling going around is that the slow quail season will pick up some during the last few weeks. Farmer Brown said his experience has been that the individual coveys of quail have been reduced in size and are rebanding into larger coveys.

The main reason for the increased success in the quail hunting is the harder freezing spells the Panhandle has been getting of late. The cold snaps have brought the birds together as well as bringing them down to the creeks and draws where they are easier working for the dogs.

Farmer Brown said he took some of his relatives and friends on a few hunting trips over the holidays. One trip was down below the caprock to the area around Turkey.

The other trip was up to the Canadian River on the East side, he said. Both trips brought pretty good success he said.

Brown's new short haired pointer, "Bozo" did all right during the hunts according to reports of the numbers of quail the party brought home. Brown said the dog worked well but had spells when he wasn't so hot. Mostly in the mornings, the dog would walk right over birds, Brown said, but when the day warmed up he would get hot and point the coveys right.

DUCKS

While the quail season has several weeks left to run, the duck season will be finished and done with by the time this gets to press. Deadline on migratory ducks was December 30.

At the present time, (December 28) there are an estimated 1/2 million ducks resting over at the Buffalo Lake Wildlife Refuge. Half-million-that sounds like a heap of ducks to be in one place.

Bob Brown, (no relation to Farmer) said the cold weather has brought the birds in from the north and they are beginning to move about now that it is getting consistantly colder.

Brown said the hunter success has been what he calls "fair." Nothing to brag about but not bad enough to close up shop and go fishing. Hunting has been slow he says, but the cold weather should cause the hunting to improve as the end of the season on migratory waterfowl approaches.

Speaking of cold weather, Brown told us that the ducks and geese are beginning to get itchy feet (wings?) and should be getting ready to head a little farther south as the days and nights get cooler. Time really flys though. It won't be too long until the long winged birds are heading back north again.

Brown said he and his crew would be pleased to show visitors around the refuge and explain its workings, time permitting. We recommend the visit. Buffalo Refuge is a downright interesting place.

As an afterthought on his way out the door Brown told us that the refuge is probably at its peak in waterfowl populations as of the last week in December. He said that in addition to the 1/2 million ducks, there are presently 18,000 geese. Brown indicated as a parting shot that this was a little better than last years' waterfowl population.

GEESE

"We've banded a little over 300 Canada geese during the last few weeks," Brown said. He asks that if anyone shoots these geese or finds them in the fields, the refuge would appreciate it if they mail or bring in the bands with locations of the kills and date. Brown said recovery of these bands will aid in research on the habits of geese.

Hunting wise, the boys have been getting after it by the tales Brown tells of the numerous scarecrows his crews have removed from refuge wheat fields. Seems the hunters place the scare crows in the fields to scare the feeding geese out of the refuge to the adjoining land where they can be shot. Broken mirrors likewise. Brown said they have collected about 15 scarecrows and numerous mirrors in recent weeks.

What good all this does, we don't pretend to know. We overheard one of the boys say the other day that from now on he is going to take his shot gun with him when he goes out in the field to set or pick up his silhouette decoys.

It seems this old boy has been patiently setting out his decoys and waiting still as mud for the geese to fly in--but without any luck. Then when he starts picking up his decoys to head for the barn--in come the birds. Some nearly landed in his hat to hear him tell it! Sounds like fun.

Richard Pruitt, during the slow Christmas holidaze, has been getting in some of his lost goose hunting time. Richard is one of those boys who really gets after it when the goose (geese?) hunting season rolls around. Kind of like Farmer Brown and his quail.

DEER

Deer, as usual, aren't too much count in the Panhandle, but some of the boys favor the critters anyway...us included. We went down to Central Texas around Austin and had hoped to get in a little deer hunting during the holidays. Seems that everyone but the Thomas family got to hunt.

The friends and relatives came in out of the brush Christmas morning long enough to clean up for Christmas day dinner and then headed out again for more deer.

There are plenty of deer down that way and they seem in very good shape. It rained most of the Christmas holiday period that we were there and was cold to boot, but that didn't discourage anyone, including the deer.

We are going to start calling our brother-in-law the Texas Deer Slayer. He got a nice 8 pointer which sure tasted good.

SHOOT BEFORE YOU LOOK!

We mean to say that it is getting downright dangerous these days to go hunting. Not from the wild animals and rigors of the brush---but wild hunters. Some of them are plain dangerous. We don't mean to moralize--just stating an opinion. It might be a good thing if there were a consistant hunting safety program in the area. Especially to instruct youngsters on the safe way to handle and use a gun.

Along that line, the development of a sportsman club in the Canyon area is getting underway. Two weeks ago an exploratory meeting was held to see if there was any desire and potential for such an organization.

Last week the same group met again to outline a formal program for a public meeting and to hear Paul Timmons, outdoor writer for the Globe-Times. Timmons is also the regional director for Sportsman Clubs of Texas, better known as SCOT. He gave the group the lowdown on affilliation with SCOT.

This shows there are some quail in the Panhandle, if you know where to locate them. Harris A. Brown, brother to Farmer Brown, Mike Decker and Barry Brown, Farmer's grandsons, show off some of their returns from a recent trip to the Canadian breaks. Farmer's pointer, "Bozo", is with the group.

County Agent's Column

A new year is a good time to file away the experiences of the past year and use them in making a new effort for the future. In this business of agriculture the old saying is that the new year will be different from those that has gone before. But it usually happened that the person with good experience, judgement, some flexibility and reserve, and a respect for the new is usually the one that comes out ahead.

Cattlemen are reporting that fall and early winter gains of cattle on wheat pasture has been excellent. This together with strong prices should bring into Randall County a good mid-winter pay check. Many of the heavier cattle will be moving out of the county into feed lots very soon. Perhaps a record number of cattle have spent the past 60-90 days in Randall County. Now the wheat grazing will be short for about 6 weeks. Late February usually brings forth the spring growth and maybe a good spring run.

Many Randall County farmers and business men can remember in 1947 when the first Randall County junior Livestock show was held. This year during our 16th annual show and sale many youngsters whose dads showed in those first few and small shows will be returning for their round of experiences. The 1963 event promises to be the biggest and best ever held in Randall County.

Canyon Sportsman Group Hears Talk By Timmons

Paul Timmons, regional director of Sportsman Clubs of Texas, a state-wide group sportsman's club, spoke at the second organizational meeting of the Canyon Sportsman Club.

The meeting was held Friday morning in county agent John Brazzil's office.

Timmons outlined to the sportsmen the advantages in being organized into a club and the advantages the club would share with other sportsmen clubs if affilliated with SCOT.

"The only sportsmen who have a voice are the organized sportsmen," Timmons said. He was referring to the influence the club would enjoy as a group concerning Panhandle hunting, fishing, and conservation.

The group appointed an organization committee of three to prepare a formal presentation and program to be given at a public meeting of area sportsmen the last week in January. Members of the committee are Paul Timmons, Dr. R. C. Busteed and Jim Thomas.

The group decided the program at the public meeting should include a talk by Timmons on the importance of being organized and a presentation by the Texas Game and Fish Commission on Texas conservation. Norrell Wallace, game and fish commission district information and education officer for region 1, is scheduled to make that presentation.

Following the movie and talks, the organization committee will present its suggestions for the formal purposes and organization of the club. Another meeting of interested sportsmen will be held the first week in February to adopt a constitution and by laws and to elect officers for the club.

Timmons told the group that sportsmen of the Panhandle could get very close to the kind of game regulations they want if they would all get together as a club.

He referred to a need for a minimum caliber regulation on firearms used in hunting, as an example of a game regulation that would possibly be well received by area sportsmen.

Timmons added that a sportsman club in Canyon could go a long way toward fostering good safety habits and attitudes among hunters and fishermen.

"Nothing makes a sportsman out of a youngster as well as personal acquaintance with a sportsman and personal acquaintance with a game warden," Timmons said.

He said the Canyon Sportsman Club would provide a meeting place for people interested in sports and the outdoors and would provide an atmosphere for good conservation and safety attitudes.

Meeting date for the organizational committee was set at January 23 Date for the public meeting is January 30.

Those present at the meeting included Paul Timmons, outdoor writer for the Amarillo Globe-Times and regional director for Sportsman Clubs of Texas; Dr. R. C. Busteed, head of the West Texas State College biology department and noted bird dog breeder and trainer; John Brazzil, conservationist and Randall County Agent; Bob Brown, migratory waterfowl expert and manager of the Buffalo Lake Federal Wildlife Refuge; Stanley McDonough, game warden for the Texas Game and Fish Commission; Richard Pruett, ardent hunter and local businessman and Jim Thomas, conservationist, reporter for The Canyon News and past director of interpretation for the Texas State Parks Board.

These Eagles are battling for the ball as they a Blackhawk between them are Eddie Poole vie with an aggregation from Phillips. With (32) and Davis Price (22).

Eagle Basketball Team Plays Three Close Ones

Canyon Eagles played two close ones last week and another Tuesday night of this week.

The Eagles sailed forth last Friday night against the Phillips Blackhawks to the tune of 53 to 48, Canyon. The Eagles had a good five point lead.

A real close one all the way down the lane, the Canyon team never gave ground until the waning two minutes of the game when the Blackhawks carried the lead for a very short time with the score at 48 to 47.

Bob Breitling, Harry Lisle and Davis Price saved the evening for the Eagles during the remaining two minutes of the game with some fast basketwork.

Breitling hit up a jump shot, followed by Lisle who got a lay up shot in the ring. Davis Price clinched the evening with two free throws in the basket.

The scores at the end of each quarter were for Canyon all the way. 15 to 10, 26 to 20, 38 to 37 and 53 to 48. It was really a squeaker for both teams.

Eddie Poole earned 16 points. Bob Begert got 10, Davis Price, Don Breitling and Harry Lisle each racked up 8 for their scores.

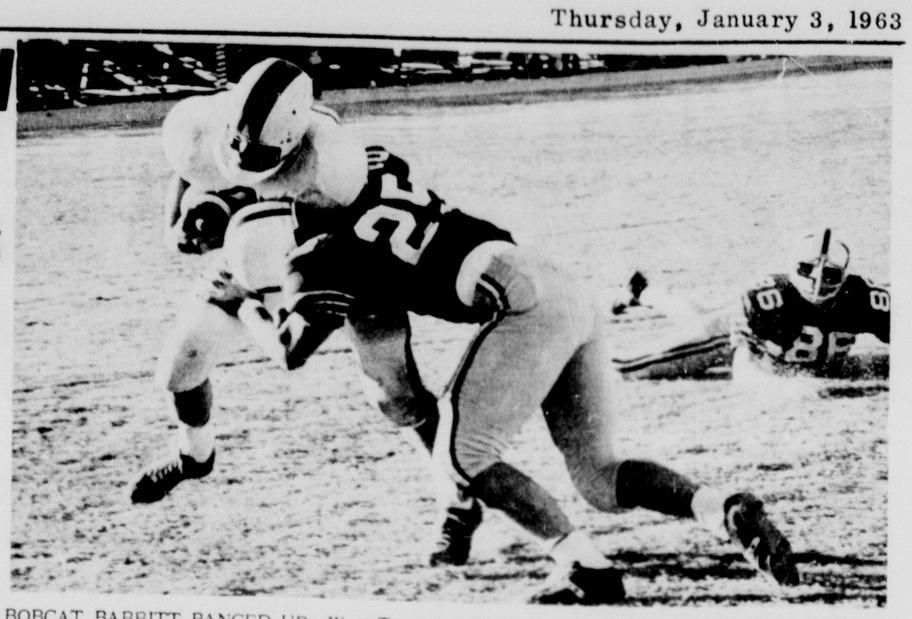
The Eagles didn't do so well Saturday night when they played the Borger Bulldogs. Score was 56 to 43 in favor of the Bulldogs.

Not to lose sight of the real goal in any contest--that of doing your best to win and playing a fair game, the Eagles stayed in the game all the way against the Bulldogs. During most of the game the AA Eagles were holding their own against the AAAA Bulldogs.

It was a close one. Perhaps more so than the Phillips game. Even though the Bulldogs were out for revenge after getting romped on recently by the Eagles, the Canyon team stayed with it as is shown by the end of the quarter scores. The Eagles were right in there with 13 to 13, 26 to 25, 35 to 35 and of course the final score of 56 to 43, Borger.

Bob Begert led the Eagles with 20 points to his credit, Don Breitling with 12 points and Bobby Evans close behind with 8.

Tuesday night's contest against Dumas was a repeat performance of the Borger game. The Eagles were taken to the showers by the Dumas Demons to the wet tune of 57 to 42.



BOBCAT BABBITT BANGED UP--West Texas quarterback Corky Dawson slips through the mammoth Ohio University line to throw Bobcat signal-caller Bob Babbitt for a loss on their own 5 yard line in the 28th Annual Sun Bowl Classic at El Paso Dec. 31 which the Buffaloes won by the slim margin of 15-14. West Texas defensive end Benny George (86) is seen in the backbround after being taken out of the play. (See story Page 1) (Photo by John Pakan)

Leading scorer for the Eagles was again Bob Begert who scored 23 of the Eagle's 42 points. This gives the Eagles a 9-8 season as they get ready to go into the district round-robin competitions January 11. The Eagles will start the games off against Floydada.

Eagle basketball coach Allen Simpson said he expects the Eagles to come through and win the district. "We like to win and we think we are going to," Simpson said.

Win or lose the Canyon Eagles basketball games have been real crowd pleasers.

Two Hurt In Mishap

A one car accident 2 miles west of Canyon injured two Amarillo youths early Tuesday morning at the intersection of F. M. 1062 and U. S. Highway 60.

Injured in the crash were William Henderson Feren, 16, driver of the car, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold D. Sanderson of 5521 Pinto Lane, Amarillo, and a passenger, Clark Firestone, 16, son of Mr. and Mrs. M. C. Van Aiken of 4405 Charlene Avenue, Amarillo.

Investigating highway patrolman Gilbert Ray said he was notified Tuesday morning by the Randall County Sheriff's Department that there was an accident and abandoned car west on Canyon on U. S. 60.

Ray said the youths were taken to Amarillo where they were treated by a physician and released in their parents care. Parents of the driver said the youth's injuries were limited to cuts and bruises.

Buffs Begin Home Stand Agaist Lobos

Sparked by an 85-79 victory over Northwestern Louisiana State for a seventh place finish in the Gulf South Classic, the West Texas State basketball team open a three game home stand at the WT Field House Jan. 5 against the University of New Mexico Lobos.

Falling into a seven-game losing skein, Coach Metz La Follette's crew broke the drought after losing five games by four points or less. LaFollette said of his team, "The team has just been making too many mistakes in the last of the games and if they cut out on their fouling and improved their ballhandling they could be winning those close ones."

All three of WT's successive home games are against New Mexico teams. The first, New Mexico University, should be the toughest as the rangy Lobos are having their best season in many years. The UNM crew, paced by 6-8 Ira (Large) Harge, have a 7-2 record coming into the game.

Eastern New Mexico University follows on Monday, Jan. 7 and New Mexico State University closes the home stand Saturday the 12th. Eastern brings a winning record into the Monday tilt although the team from Las Cruces is having an off year without the services of George Knighton.

In the Gulf South Classic at Shreveport, La., 6-7 post Scottie Pierce was named to the tournament's All-Tourney five-man team. Pierce was the meet's top scorer with a 23-point average. The Post junior received a wrist watch for his top effort. Losses in the meet were to Louisiana Tech 74-72, and George Washington University 81-77. On Dec. 22 at the WT Field House, Idaho State humbled the Buffs in a last second thriller 74-72.

The varsity tilt Saturday night with the UNM Lobos begins at 8 p.m. with the freshman team playing the preliminary at 6 against Wayland College.

Damage Traffic Signal

A one car accident recently caused the damage to a stop-signal light in front of the Canyon city hall.

City officials said the accident occurred when Henry Paul Levin, Panhandle, was blinded by the sun while attempting a turn from 4th avenue to 16th street.

His automobile jumped the curb and knocked down the signal light in front of city hall.

City manager Bill York estimated the light damage at approximately $150 to $200. There were no injuries in the accident, he said.

FROM THE CANYON RIM

We heard a Professor James Burns, who is tabbed as the President's biographer, on Meet The Press Sunday.

We were astounded to hear even a New Frontiersman make some of the statements made by Professor Burns in that appearance.

Here's the gist of it.

Professor Burns says he believes the House of Representatives is out of step with the times. Something should be done about it because the House has, on occasion, interfered with the will of the President.

Professor Burns sees the "will of the President" as the will of the people. He said the system of checks and balances provided in the Constitution are bad because they tend to weaken the central government.

He said the House of Representatives is particularly bad because members of the House are (This is ridiculous) mostly from rural areas and do not reflect the will of the majority.

This is but a reflection of the New Frontier's incessant press for power. We can expect efforts on the part of the executive branch to weaken further the legislative branch within the near future.

We do not expect to persuade the masses with what we have to say. We discuss the matter principally because, feeling as we do, we think we must--for the record.

The statements by Professor Burns, who obviously is a New Frontier "insider," may be taken as a real danger signal. Our representative form of government may well be in real danger---most certainly is in peril if those of the professor's mode of thinking have their way.

The President himself last summer told a group of students that the Constitution is is outdated.

The President has surrounded himself with a handful, a great many of them family and life-longchums, who make life and death decisions affecting this country.

Although Mr. Kennedy has proved himself a relentless politician, we do not hold his obvious quest for power as total evil. It is very human.

It was for just such human ambition that the Constitution was written. Let us stand by and guard that great document. It is the Holy Grail of freedom.

The House of Representatives, more than any other body, is the defense of this Republic against human ambition, with which even Presidents and Supreme Court justices are afflicted.

We should insist that our House jealously retain the perogatives vested in it by the founding fathers.

Despite what the learned professor and Presidential biographer had to say, the House of Representatives is the only branch of government which actually does represent the grass roots.

All our life we have been plagued by getting some catchy phrase or bit of verse stuck in our mind and being unable to put it aside.

Dr. Claude Boatman is guilty of setting off the latest one.

Dr. Boatman, our scientist friend, told us about a science book in his possession which bears this bit of verse.

"Big bugs have little bugs
On their backs to bite 'um.
Little bugs have littler still
Ad infinitum."

Try getting that one out of your mind.

If you succeed try this one which was above the rear door of a British mess hall in Mersamatruh, Egypt.

"Please let all those who are going out first."

It nearly drove us to distraction. When we have nothing else to do, we ponder this sage admonition from our days with His Majesty's Air Force.

There must be some hidden meaning which has escaped us because for 18 years now all we've been able to come up with is a baffling "Please let all those who are going out first."

This week we heard a couple of cat stories that are dandies.

Jimmy Christopher, a quail hunting enthusiast, tells about the old boy down at Turkey in Hall County who has a retrieving tom cat.

The cat rides on a pad on the hunter's shoulder. When the hunter blasts down a bird the cat launches himself from the pad and retrieves.

He brings the bird and puts it at the hunter's feet. When the hunter stoops to pick up the bird, the tom cat leaps back on the shoulder pad and is ready for the next shot.

Mrs. Burton Burris tells us the other cat story. She says her female cat last year on a Friday the thirteenth gave birth to a single coal black kitten.

Eagle Boosters Schedule Meet

Canyon Eagles Booster Club will meet January 8 in Canyon High School cafeteria.

Roscoe Richardson said the boosters will review the recent basketball games the Eagles have played and possibly may see films of several home games.

Richardson said the boosters club recently purchased a special lens for the Canyon High School athletic department movie camera so the CHS basketball games could be filmed.

Hilltop Views

The new year is in its third day and I find myself checking up on myself. Am I doing any better in 1963 than in 1962? I knew last year where some of my faults were and repented. As the old year drew to a close I resolved to be more tolerant with those who differ with me because I now see that I myself have sometimes been wrong in my opinions and judgments. I want, if possible, to temper my relations with others with patience, equity, honesty, and the spirit of fellowship and good will.

I want, if possible, to know the whole truth about any given situations, problem or issue before rendering judgments thereon. I realize that snap judgments often arise out of ignorance about the subject involved, or, per chance, out of preconceived notions, or prejudices, or maybe somebody's brain-washing. Such judgments produce incompetent ballots and are liabilities to community, state and nation.

I want to bite my tongue severely before I repeat unverified damaging rumors about another. Mother gossip is a mischievous imp whose prattle does nothing but harm. The male slaunderer is worse.

I must remember always that life is less concerned with physical satisfactions and influencies than with the full development of our intellectual, moral, and spiritual endowments. Life at its best is found nowhere else but in the realm of invisible values. If I am wise I will order my conduct accordingly.

I must not forget that the almost boundless opportunities which are, at least theoretically, the birthright of every American citizen are balanced against, perpetually demanding responsibilities. No human being has a moral right to take without giving. As long as one has the capacity to serve it is his duty to do so. Not even a very rich man has a moral right to abandon his responsibility to his fellow man, build a mansion at the water's edge or on the mountain top, sit down in an easy chair, and indulge a luxurious retirement.

I must remember always that manhood is far more important and geniunely satisfying than money. As some one has said "Any Croesus may have heartaches over countless gold and silver, and from the void of any empty heart cry out for a Lazarus to give him a crumb of happiness moistened with a drop of joy." I once knew a relatively poor man who, when he lost his poverty lost also his happinesss.

I hope I can gratefully remember every day of this new year what marvelous blessings have been mine throughout a long life. Though I have met many obstacles, disappointments, and sorrows I have enjoyed fellowships with a Divine Will that has enabled me to meet and bear them with courage and resolution. I am eternally indebted to my state and my country for abundant opportunities to serve, to rear a family in a high level atmosphere, and to enjoy such physical comforts as seemed necessary to perform the functions of a lofty profession.

Finally, God forbid that I shall ever waver in my faith in the capacity of the common man -- the average man -- the man, who earns his bread in the sweat of his brow as well as he who administers a business. If I did not thus believe I should have no faith in free government. And if I had no faith in free government, I should have no faith in God himself. And without faith in God there is no enduring substance to life.

There are some of my meditations as I enter 1963. God help me to do as well as I know.
